LAB ASSIGNMENT V : HEURISTIC EVALUATION

SYSTEM EVALUATED: HMT Watches Website

Evaluation to be done by other Group

PART I : HEURISTIC EVALUATION BASED ON THE GIVEN PRINCIPLES

Rating: 0 = minimum severity, 5 = maximum severity.

S.No.	Heuristic Evaluation Parameter	Violation if any	Severity 0–5	Ways to improve
1	User Control	Basic navigation, category browsing, cart and guest checkout provide control. However, stock, cancellation and return situations reduce control.	3	Show stock status, reservation timer, clear cancellation/refund rules, and easier cart/order management.
2	Human Limitations	Dense filters, long historical sections, text-heavy information and repeated unavailable products increase cognitive load.	3	Use collapsible filters, whitespace, concise specifications and separate in-stock/archive products.
3	Accommodation	Different users are not fully supported for watch size, movement, technical details and restock needs.	3	Add advanced filters, standardized specifications, Notify Me and improved mobile layouts.
4	Linguistic Clarity	Navigation is generally understandable, but some technical, return and error information is incomplete or unclear.	2	Use concise labels, plain-language errors and transparent return/refund explanations.
5	Aesthetic Integrity	HMT branding and product focus are strong, but photography, typography, spacing and visual hierarchy vary.	2	Standardize photography, typography, spacing, cards and CTA hierarchy.
6	Simplicity	Core shopping is straightforward, but dense filters, unavailable products and long content sections add complexity.	3	Prioritize active inventory, simplify filters, add Quick View and improve search.
7	Predictability	Navigation is predictable, but stock availability, order allocation and refund timing can be uncertain.	3	Show real-time stock, allocation confirmation, reservation countdown and refund tracking.
8	Accuracy	Core functions work, but prominent out-of-stock products and incomplete specifications can create inaccurate expectations.	3	Clearly label unavailable products, maintain accurate inventory and complete specifications.
9	Technical Clarity	Important details such as case diameter, thickness, lug dimensions, caliber, crystal and water resistance are not consistently available.	4	Create a standardized technical-specification section for every watch.
10	Fulfillment	Satisfaction is reduced by stock shortages, limited reviews, refund delays and return effort.	4	Add verified reviews, restock alerts, transparent refunds, simplified returns and reverse pickup.

11	Consistency	Brand/category structure is consistent, but photography, typography, spacing and information presentation vary.	2	Use a consistent design system for cards, type, spacing, images, specs and buttons.
12	User Support	Support for restocks, returns, refunds, product details and complaint handling is limited.	4	Add FAQs, clearer return guidance, support options, restock alerts and refund tracking.
13	Precision	Users can browse and purchase, but limited filters and missing measurements make precise product selection difficult.	3	Add case-size, movement, price, availability and strap filters plus complete specs.
14	Forgiveness	Cancellation charges, strict unboxing evidence, customer-managed returns and long refunds reduce recoverability.	4	Explain rules before payment, preserve cart state and provide simpler return/replacement recovery.
15	Responsiveness	Loading, stock, confirmations and error feedback can be weak; mobile/performance perception also needs improvement.	4	Add skeleton loading, clear status messages, useful errors, cart persistence, responsive mobile design and lazy loading.

TOTAL SCORE: 47 / 75

Overall assessment: HMT Watches has recognizable branding, logical movement categories and a straightforward shopping flow. Major issues are inventory visibility, incomplete technical specifications, search/filter limitations, weak feedback/status, return/refund friction, accessibility, mobile responsiveness and limited social proof.

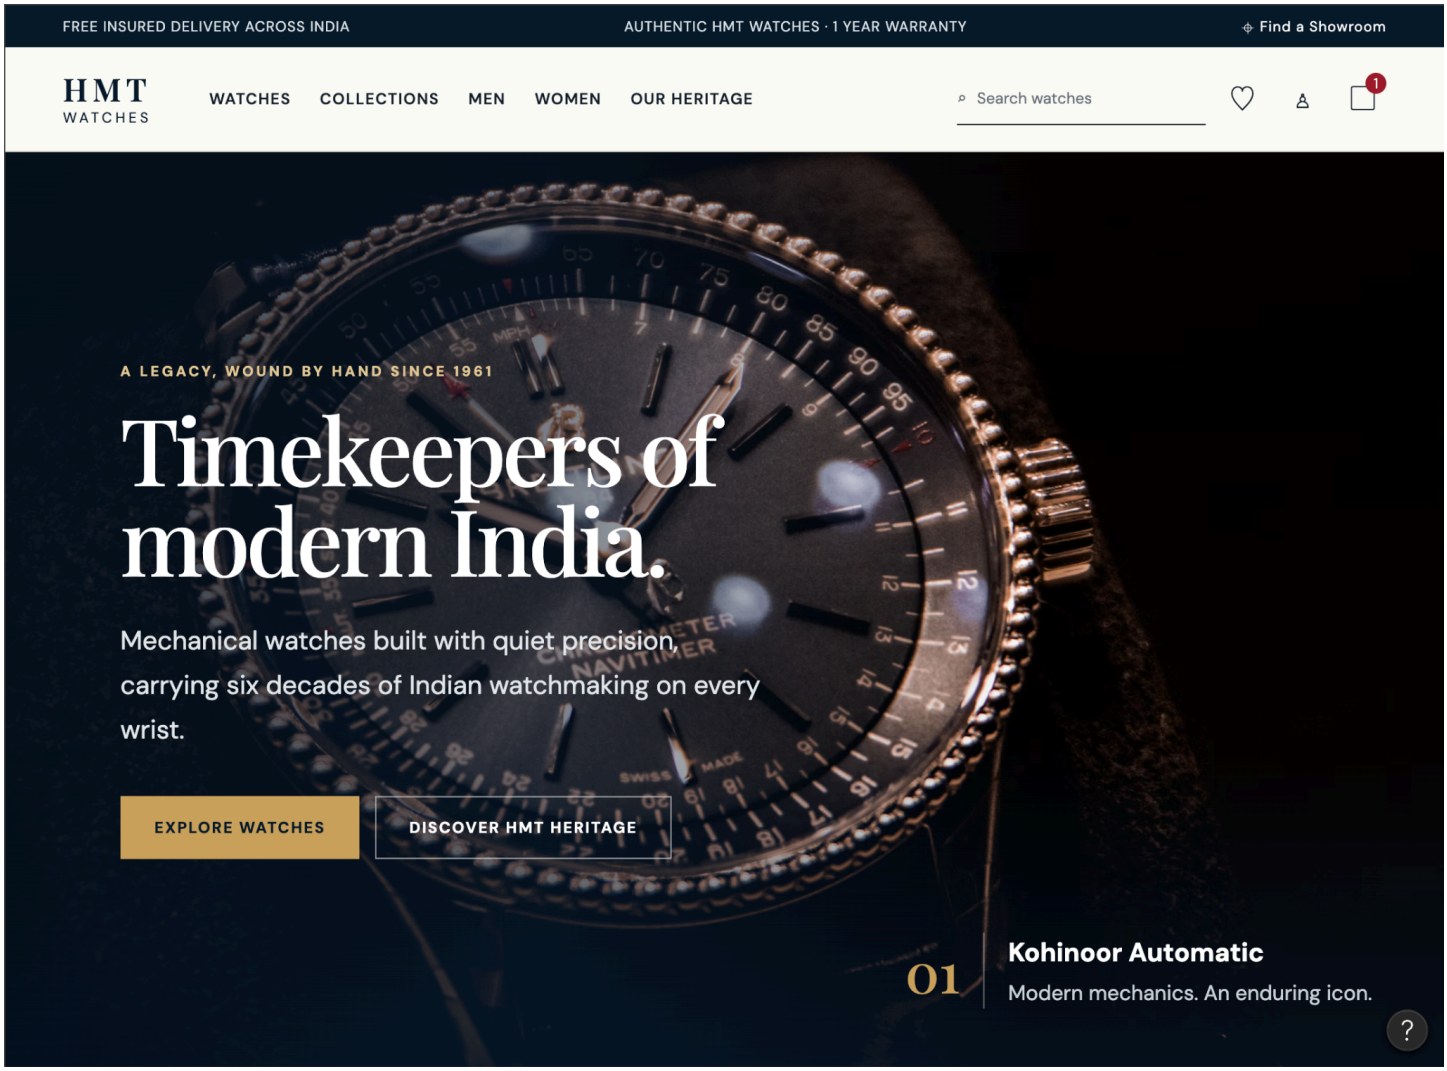

PART II : OTHER OBSERVATIONS (OTHER THAN THE GIVEN PRINCIPLES)

S.NO	OBSERVATIONS	COMMENTS
1	Availability & Inventory	Popular models can remain visible while unavailable. Add “Shop In-Stock Watches” and separate archive/unavailable products.
2	Product Information	Technical specifications are inconsistent. Use one standardized specification template for every watch.
3	Restock Discovery	Users may depend on external communities for restocks. Add official email/SMS Notify Me alerts.
4	Photography	Product photography varies. Add high-resolution multiple-angle, detail and wrist-shot images.
5	Search	Search can be improved with predictive assistance and typo tolerance. Add autocomplete and product suggestions.
6	Trust & Reviews	Customer reviews are limited. Add verified ratings, written reviews and customer wrist photos.
7	Returns	Some complaint/return processes require customer effort. Add guided return forms and reverse pickup.
8	Refunds	Long refund periods can create uncertainty. Add transparent timelines and refund-status tracking.
9	Mobile	Mobile navigation, banners and filters need stronger responsive handling. Use a mobile filter drawer and sticky navigation.
10	Performance	Large images can affect perceived performance. Use compressed WebP images, lazy loading and skeleton loading.
